Today's Thought

It is daily life that tests us—the manner of men we are. It is not our prayers, it is not our profession; but it is the tone of daily intercourse and conduct that decides how we stand.

—John F. W. Ware.

Around Our Home Town

"BY OBSERVER"

It was very interesting to note, in a strolling expedition around our Town the other evening, the number of the citizens who were busy in their gardens, either preparing the ground for seeds and plants or tilling up the premises. In some cases it was a great pleasure to note the enthusiasm displayed, irrespective of whether or not they were home owners or renters, each one taking pride in trying to make their places brighter and tidier. To see these people at work made one feel that Crossfield is not a bad place to stay in after all, and when you compare Crossfield with others of its size throughout the Province, in saying, "We like our homes," is to have said all that is necessary.

The contrast in the upkeep of the homes, in comparison with the public buildings, is a wide one. In this respect our Churches, of which we have four, are all sadly in need of re-decorating, and apparently lack of funds in the four treasuries is the main reason for the lack of paint in this respect. A new coat of paint would lengthen the life of the building, add a new dignity to the edifice and enhance the appearance. Unfortunately the grounds of some of the churches could be in much tidier and better shape, and if they were the property of private owners they would not be allowed to remain in such a condition.

If only some of the church members could get together and arrange for a clean-up of the premises what a material difference it would make to the general appearance of everything.

Crossfield Citizens have a reputation to maintain, and we know they will not fall down, and that steps will be taken by members of the various church boards, to have a tidy-up and make their premises the outstanding one in the Village.

The Town Hall itself is also in the need of a little tidying, and no doubt the council could arrange with some of the men in their employ to put in a little extra work around the grounds and building, and help in the general clean-up programme.

Board of Trade Meets May 27

One of the most important meetings of the Board will be held Wednesday, May 27th, 1936, at 6:30 o'clock in the Oliver Cafe.

The speaker of evening is Mr. Harold Riley, Junior, prominent member of the Calgary Junior Board of Trade and graduate of the University of Alberta. Mr. Riley will bring a message and topic of interest to everyone and it is hoped that a large turn-out of members will be present.

Many topics of discussion will be brought up, and possibly an outline of plans for July 1st, so your assistance and ideas will be needed.

A guarantee has to be given the caterer, so if members will advise the secretary if they intend to attend, it will save the Board any chance of loss, as unused meals must be paid for, help us help all concerned.

Come out and accord this speaker a worthwhile audience.

"Derwent Sensation"

"Derwent Sensation," famous Clydesdale Stallion, owned by William Russell of Crossfield, is the holder of eight championships and six grand champions. This horse comes from a grand line of Pedigreed Stallions, and his sire was the owner of seven championships in Canada while his Grand Sire, Fyvie Sensation, held an unbeatable record in Scotland.

Bill will be travelling soon with this horse in the Simons Valley District.

Local Girls

Make Good Showing Music Festival

Congratulations are extended this week to Miss I. Goldie and Miss A. Collicutt, two former Crossfield Girls whose schools made splendid showings at Olds Musical Festival last week.

This is Miss Goldie's first year of teaching and her school district (Mona), won third prize for part singing in which forty seven schools in all competed. Only two points separated the first and third place winners. Mrs. T. M. Goldie played the accompaniment.

The Rosebud School, taught by Miss Collicutt, obtained two prizes, second in actions songs, third in dramatization with "The Sing-Song Man." Two other prizes were obtained by two of the pupils, Gladys Peterson getting second for Grade Two recitations, and John Parker third place for Grade One recitations.

Town Purchases

Fire Siren

This week arrangements were made by the local council to purchase and have installed a fire siren which will displace the fire bell which is now out of date.

We are given to understand that this siren will probably blow daily at noon, 6 and 9 p.m. It will be easy to distinguish between the blasts, signifying fires and time signals.

Taking Candy

From the Babies

One of the many regrettable incidents brought about by the Ultimate Purchasers' Tax Act was noted here on Saturday, and no doubt there were hundreds somewhat similar. A little girl entered a store to make a purchase that was priced 25 cents. She produced the 25 cents in payment, and when the clerk demanded another cent, she burst into tears. Her mother had given her a cent to buy candy.—Enterprise Blairmore.

Grasshopper Menace

War-like preparations are going ahead in Southern Alberta to ward off a prospective plague of grasshoppers. A map of the south, prepared jointly by the Provincial and Federal Departments of Agriculture, shows in colors the divisions where trouble is expected and also the degree of intensity! Warm, dry weather, so badly needed for seeding, will be propitious for grasshopper hatching.

Farmers are asked to make a careful examination of roadsides, headlands and weedy or abandoned fields, and to report discover of hoppers immediately to their municipal secretary. Expert advice suggests no sowing of stubble land in threatened areas. An extensive poison campaign will be conducted if danger develops.

The fencing season will soon be here now. We carry a complete stock of REAL GOOD CEDAR POSTS, priced from 13c and up—WE EMPHASIZE THE FACT THAT THESE POSTS ARE GOOD, and are a real bargain—Get yours now as our supply will not last long at this low price.

HOUSE IN FUREOR OVER CHARGES ABOUT WALL ST.

Ottawa.—John Blackmore, leader of the Social Crediters, threw the House of Commons into a furore by relaying anonymous charges that an intrigue exists to place Canada under the control of Wall Street.

The former school teacher from Lethbridge refused to accept responsibility for the statement or disclose the author, finally withdrawing it after a stormy 15 minutes. The incident was climaxed by Deputy Speaker Sanderson ordering the statement expunged from Hansard, an incident which hasn't happened in years.

While attacking a government resolution to amend the British North America Act to empower the Dominion to guarantee provincial borrowings under certain conditions and extend to them power to collect sales tax, Mr. Blackmore first gave his opinion "money power" was attempting to enslave all mankind.

Then he continued: "Here are a few words from a man whom I very much fear knows a good deal about his subject." He then read the following from a yellow sheet of paper: "Your major danger in Canada now is in connection with an intrigue between the financiers of the United States, the Bank of Canada and—" he left this blank—"to modify the British North America Act so as to put you under the control of Wall Street. The danger is instant and serious."

"I said I would not give the name," replied Mr. Blackmore. "You should give the authority or accept responsibility for the statement," insisted the finance minister.

When this didn't work, Mr. Dunning appealed to the chair with Conservative Leader Bennett, Premier Mackenzie King and half a dozen other members taking part in the short but pithy exchange.

The deputy speaker ruled the Social Credit leader must divulge the name or accept responsibility for the charge.

Given that choice, Mr. Blackmore withdrew, adding: "Naturally I do not propose to take the responsibility for the statement, nor do I propose to give the name of the person who wrote it. It cannot be revealed at the present time so I will withdraw."

He stepped into the arena a few seconds later when he said: "I am glad the members have had the chance to hear it," referring to the statement.

This led the Conservative leader to suggest the statement be deleted from house records, the deputy speaker agreeing with him.

Makes Record Trip

Zeppelin Hindenburg Crosses Atlantic in 48 Hours

Frankfurt-On-Main, Germany.—The Zeppelin Hindenburg arrived over the aerodrome here, completing its return from its maiden trip to the United States.

The German dirigible took 48 hours, 27½ minutes to make its return flight. It took 61 hours, 53 minutes for its crossing from Friedrichshafen, Germany, to Lakehurst, N.J.

The Hindenburg bettered existing records for both the eastward and westward crossings.

The best previous mark from the United States to Germany was set by the Graf Zeppelin in August, 1929, when it flew from Lakehurst to Friedrichshafen in 54 hours.

The previous westward record was set by the Los Angeles, then known as the ZR-3, in October, 1924, when Dr. Hugo Eckener brought the airship across the Atlantic in 81 hours, 17 minutes.

Praises Canadian Red Cross

Ottawa.—Lady Tweedsmuir in a statement issued on behalf of the Canadian Red Cross Society on British Empire Red Cross Day and the 116th anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, said both she and the Governor-General were "much impressed by the admirable way in which the Red Cross of Canada has translated the ideals of Florence Nightingale into effect."

Winnipeg.—Formation of a national fact-finding body to represent the livestock industry in Canada was approved at a meeting of the Western Livestock Union here. The recommendation will be forwarded to the federal government.

Radio Advertising

Urge Wider Use of Air At A Lower Cost

Ottawa.—Reorganization of radio control in Canada along lines that would permit wider use of the air at a lower cost to advertisers was urged upon the parliamentary committee on broadcasting.

Representatives of associations of Canadian advertisers, advertising agencies and broadcasters, suggested establishment of a general manager system with a board of governors acting in an advisory capacity.

It was urged contracts between the governing radio body and the land-wire companies be such that network facilities could be sublet to advertisers at attractive rates.

The advertisers urged that radio advertising be permitted to mention the price of advertised articles which they are now forbidden to do.

It was suggested the national system of control be restricted to program arrangements and regulations, and that the government not engage in commercial broadcasting.

The brief also urged the technical and engineering aspects of radio be restored to the department of marine where it was administered prior to creation of the Canadian radio commission.

C. M. Passmore, of Toronto; Glen Bannerman of Tilbury, Ont., and J. A. MacLaren, of Toronto, spoke for the advertisers and broadcasters.

Free Trade Zones

Say Canada Will Derive Benefit From Free Ports

Ottawa.—The senate gave second reading a bill to establish "free ports" or "free foreign trade zones" in Canada and a special committee will study the proposal before the bill is advanced further.

Senator J. P. B. Cagrain (Lib., Montreal), who introduced the bill, urged Canada under the proposal would derive benefits similar to those obtained by numerous European nations which established "free ports."

Duty would be collected on goods reshipped from these ports only if they were consigned to persons in Canada. If the goods were to be sent to foreign countries, there would be no excise duty.

Manufacturing would be stimulated at such ports, said Senator Cagrain. Also, an immense trans-shipment business would be built up. "And it would not cost the taxpayers of the country one cent," he added.

Honored By The King

Late Victory Of India Has Received New Title

London.—The king approved that a marquessate be conferred on the Earl of Willington, who has just completed a five-year term as viceroy of India.

The king received Lord Willington in audience at Buckingham palace and afterwards the retiring viceroy and Lady Willington had luncheon with His Majesty and Queen Mary. Freeman Freeman-Thomas was raised to the peerage as Baron Willington in 1916. In 1924 he was created a viscount and in 1931, on his appointment as viceroy of India after completing a term as governor-general of Canada, he was created first Earl of Willington. As a marquess, he will probably retain his association with Willington, Sussex, taking the title Marquess of Willington.

Annuity Rates Too Low

Canadian Government Should Charge More States Chief Actuary

Ottawa.—As a result of the increase in life expectancy in the last quarter-century, purchasers of Canadian government annuities should be paying rates 25 per cent. in excess of those prevailing, A. D. Watson, chief actuary of the Dominion insurance department, estimated at a meeting of a senate special committee.

On the basis, he said, $26,000,000 should have been collected as purchase price in place of $21,000,000 on annuity contracts made last year.

Excess in life expectancy among industrial policyholders was from 46.63 per cent. in 1911 to 51.19 per cent. in 1934, according to figures of a leading insurance company, he said.

Recognizing this, groups of insurance companies increased their rates from 27 to 33 per cent. but annuity rates had not been changed since the scheme started in 1908. British government rates had been raised.

Loans Being Consolidated

Ottawa Announces Policy Regarding Advances To Manitoba

Ottawa.—Loans of the Dominion to Manitoba which have matured recently or will mature within a short time will be consolidated into one amount and renewed until June 15, 1937. An order-in-council tabled in the House of Commons provides for renewal of these loans.

The Dominion also renewed for one year its guarantee of Manitoba treasury bills totalling $5,574,037 which matured at the beginning of this month.

ETHIOPIANS SET UP A NEW SEAT OF GOVERNMENT

Khartoum.—Loyal followers of Emperor Haile Selassie have established an Ethiopian government in the Gore region close to the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan frontier. British authorities were informed here.

Gore is about 250 miles southwest of Addis Ababa and only about 50 miles east of Gambela, Ethiopian trading centre now under the jurisdiction of Sudan authorities by virtue of a lease arranged in the tripartite treaty of 1906.

Capt. E. N. Erskine, British consul in the Gore region, announced establishment of the Ethiopian administration in a despatch to Sudan authorities. Police and troops under the government's orders are patrolling the region, arresting bands of armed army deserters, the despatch said.

No indication was given as to whether the government had been set up in the town of Gore or in the mountainous district outside the city. The Ethiopians were believed anxious to keep their exact location secret, fearing an air attack by Italian planes stationed at Addis Ababa.

Despatches from Addis Ababa said an Italian motorized column had left there for Gore to bring the region under Italian control.

THE GOOSE GOES "GADDING"

At a summer resort near Regina, a Canada Goose has become very friendly with the life guard, M. P. Ryan, and is very popular. The goose, which has been named "Honker," will answer Mr. Ryan's call, walk with him on the beach or swim beside him in the water. Honker will answer Mr. Ryan's call from half a mile away if the wind is favorable, and will even oblige any press photographer who may wish to take a picture of Honker and his friend. Here is the unusual goose with Mr. Ryan, who apparently knows Honker's weak spot—ice cream in the cone.

HONORED

M. E. Nichols, vice-president and managing director of the Honourary Province, who was elected honorary president of the Canadian Press, an unique honour in Canadian newspaperdom, bestowed only as a "mark of worth for meritorious service to the corporation."

Stellarton Miner Killed

One Of The Men Who Helped At Moose River Meets Death In Mine Shaft

Stellarton, N.S.—Joe Campbell, one of the Stellarton miners who risked their lives to save Dr. D. E. Robertson and Alfred Scadding, died in the depths of MacGregor shaft.

A roaring "coal trip"—a string of loaded cars returning to the surface—struck the 27-year-old Campbell 4,000 feet underground and killed him almost instantly.

He was among the miners and draggermen in the Reynolds shaft when the last barrier to Robertson, Scadding and the body of Magill was broken 10 days after the collapse.

He is survived by his widow and one child.

To Visit Grain Buyers

Official Of Canadian Wheat Board Leaves For Old Country

Winnipeg.—On an extended holiday to the old country, George H. McIvor, assistant chief commissioner of the Canadian wheat board, will consult with the grain trade and millers in Europe.

Announcement of Mr. McIvor's visit was made at the wheat board's offices. Mr. McIvor is accompanied by Dr. W. F. Geddes, chemist in charge of the board of grain commissioners here.

May Take Month's Holiday

Ottawa.—Amendments to letters patent from the king under which the governor-general of Canada carries out duties of his office will permit his absence from Canada for a period not exceeding one month. Heretofore the governor-general could not leave Canadian soil at all without special permission from His Majesty and the appointment of an administrator.

B.C. Motor Roads

Dust Free Road From Banff To U.S. Boundary Is Considered

Ottawa.—Construction of dust-free roads from the United States boundary to the Banff National Park is being considered, Interior Minister T. A. Crerar told the House of Commons.

The Dominion has spent $10,000,000 on the park and last year only 4,800 American cars visited it. The minister said many Americans turned back after a few miles of the dusty, gravel roads.

It was a question of deciding what roads to resurface, Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader said. One of the difficulties of the park was the fact the Jasper highway was not completed nor the road to the coast. Tourists must return by the road they entered.

Hon. H. H. Stevens (Recon., East Kootenay) put in a word for parks in British Columbia. He believed it should be a national policy to open national parks to American tourists.

American tourists returned home and turned their friends not to visit western Canadian roads because of the dust, Mr. Stevens said. He suggested one national road in each province tapping the parks.

H. C. Green (Con., Vancouver South) noted the trans-Canada highway completed first, the last gap being the Big Bend highway.

Mr. Crerar said he believed if the roads were dust-proofed from King's Gate to Banff and from there to Calgary and to Waterton park many thousands of tourists would use them. The minister said he would discuss with British Columbia representatives the dust-proofing of roads on the west side of the mountains.

J. A. MacLaren (Lib., Edmonton West) pressed for a connecting link between Jasper and the trans-Canada.

Nazi Ship At Montreal

No Disturbance Greeted Arrival Of German Cruiser

Montreal.—The German cruiser Emden docked at Montreal, May 12, slipping quietly out of a thick morning fog to tie up at Laurier pier.

Cordons of police held back crowds of civilians on shore to greet the German vessel but within sight of the ship there was no disturbance.

A few streets from the waterfront, however, police—250 strong—broke up a crowd of 200 persons attempting an anti-Nazi demonstration. Ten persons, including three women, were arrested and charged with disturbing the peace.

The Emden, the first vessel to fly the Nazi flag up the St. Lawrence river and the first German warship to come upstream since before the Great War. She is the third Reich ship to carry the name "Emden," the name most famous in the early months of the Great War by Kaiser Wilhelm's daring sea captain, Von Muller.

TAKE STEPS TO MAKE THE LEAGUE MORE EFFECTIVE

Geneva.—International jurists began active work to make the League of Nations more effective.

The first suggestions were submitted by Nicholas Socrates Politis, former foreign minister of Greece, recognized as one of the greatest European juridical authorities.

Politis handed to Joseph Paul-Boncour, French delegate to Geneva, his recommendations on possible amendments to the league covenant. The council, which postponed its deliberations on the Italian invasion of Ethiopia after the Fascist declaration withdrew from the sessions, adjourned after two meetings—one private and one public.

At the former, the members decided to hold the special session on the Italo-Ethiopian dispute June 16 instead of a day earlier, as previously announced.

Other subjects placed on the agenda for the June meeting were the Locarno problem, resulting from Germany's reoccupation of the Rhineland, and the international slavery question.

The public session was devoted to the proposal to create a council seat for China. The council decided to refer the proposal to the league assembly in September.

The council meetings were completely overshadowed by discussions about the scenes on the problem of reorganizing and revitalizing the league's peace machinery.

COMMISSION WILL MAKE STUDY OF LABOR PROBLEMS

Ottawa.—A seven-member national employment commission was announced by Labor Minister Norman Rogers.

Headed by Arthur B. Purvis, Montreal, the commission personnel includes three business men, a representative of Labor, a former newspaperman, a university professor and a Saskatchewan farmer.

The commission said: Arthur B. Purvis, Montreal, chairman; A. N. McLean, Black's Harbor, N.B.; Alfred Marois, Quebec; Tom Moore, Ottawa; Mrs. Mary M. Sutherland, Wells, B.C.; W. W. Mackintosh, Kingston, Ont., and E. J. Young, Dummer, Sask.

Its purpose, according to Chairman Purvis, is to try and put people to work. Its first function will be to try and get at the actual facts in respect to unemployment in Canada. Its first meeting will probably be held in about a week when plans will be made for carrying on the work. It will work in close co-operation with the department of labor.

"I have great confidence in this new venture in nation-wide co-operation as an approach to stubborn economic problems," the minister said. "The personnel of the commission has been selected with the utmost care. Each member will be able to contribute a specialized fund of knowledge and experience to the study of the employment problem, employment and relief. The chairman and members of the new commission may be assured from the outset of the full co-operation of the department of labor."

The chairman issued this statement:

"The national employment commission has been set up by the government to bring about the re-employment of those who would normally be self-supporting. It is not for the dislocation of trade.

"In recent years as we citizens have been far too prone to lean upon the government for the solution of all our problems and to fall into a habit of destructively criticizing the government or the economic system—a course which can get us nowhere.

"Our government believes, and the national employment commission believes, that Canadians are ready to move out of this atmosphere of doubt and criticism. More—that they are prepared to take their part in a nation-wide co-operative effort to face squarely the problems before us, and make such sacrifices as will bring about their solution.

"With this end in view the national employment commission will seek the reduction of every man and woman, young and old, in a team effort to win back for all the right to a true feeling of independence."

"Personally I feel this will give an opportunity for contact between industry and government and an opportunity which has been lacking in the past," the new chairman said, outlining the plans of the commission.

Reduced Freight Rates On Coal

Want Lower Freight Rates In West To Meet Competition

Saskatoon.—Lower railway rates in order to make coal a more attractive fuel and hence increase its market will be one thing for which the new executive of the Western Canadian Fuel Association will press during the next year. This was unanimously decided at a general meeting of the association here.

By a unanimous vote the mine operators, wholesale and retail coal merchants instructed the chief executive officers of the association to approach the officials of both railway companies with a view to getting reduced freight rates in western Canada. In urging this move dealers pointed out that transportation costs were the largest single item in the price of coal in most distant markets. A reduction in freight rates would enable coal to meet the competition from substitute fuels, particularly in the Winnipeg market.

To Attend Vancouver Celebration

Ottawa.—The party of parliamentarians and press gallery correspondents which will travel by special train across Canada to attend the golden jubilee celebrations at Vancouver will leave the east the first week of August, it was announced here, following a meeting of interested members of parliament. Arrangements will be made to stop at several points during the trip to the Pacific.

Between Ourselves

The local Council have purchased a Fire Siren, which will be installed shortly, to assist in giving due warning of any conflagrations.

This is a step in the right direction, but we trust that the matter of lining up the Fire Brigade and the Equipment will also be taken in hand right away and put on a proper basis.

An alarm system without fighters and equipment is like a steamer at sea with a good crew and no navigation instruments.

Observer has written an article for this weeks issue which is timely and gives helpful criticism, and while many factors may enter into the why and wherefores for the lack or seeming lack, in this connection, no doubt some steps can be taken to make some remedies to assist in the beautification of the premises written about.

On his sight-seeing trip around town, Observer apparently overlooked one particular thing, (or perhaps on the day he made his tour it was not raining) and that is the state of the main sidewalk in our town, in front of the Crossfield Meat Market, and old Service Garage, the former most particularly. For some reason or other, the cement walk was stopped in front of the Butcher Shop, and then given a pyramid finish, to join the cement walk further along, with the result, that when it rains, Crossfield has a perfect Lagoon. Ladies, and other pedestrians are given two choices, either to swim through the pool on the sidewalk, or sidetrack out on to the road, in the mud.

The main street, the show street of the Village, is no "AD" for Crossfield in wet weather, whatever it might be in clear weather.

Steps are now under way by the various Committees of the Board of Trade to line up the programmes for the year, but unless the co-operation of all is heartily given, their efforts will have been in vain.

Are you gentle reader a member of this organization, if not, why not join today and assist in the timely discussions and helps this Body gives to Community affairs.

The article from the Glasgow Herald, in this issue is worth reading several times, and applied freely to us all, not only as individuals but as Societies, and Organizations.

This weeks issue carries special warning from the Village Council, in connection with the growing practice of Cycling on the sidewalks and parents would be well advised now to warn their children, that this dangerous and ill bred habit be dispensed with.

Glasgow Georgie
Missed This One

From the columns of the Viking News we extracted this one.

Here's a poem from the Glasgow Herald that will apply any place:

"Would your town be a better or poorer one if every citizen was like you? That is a fair question to ask yourself. What are you doing in the way of suggesting something for the bettering of conditions in your town? So many citizens, in fact the great majority of citizens, are content to mind their own business, and give no thought whatever of how conditions in their own town might be improved socially, from a business standpoint, educationally and morally. How many suggestions do you offer in the year as to local improvements, and how they might help start, in a small way, some new industry? In other words, is your town the better, the poorer, or just of no account, because of you living here? Make the people you meet from outside feel that they are the most welcome guests who ever came to town. It does not cost anything to be courteous and pleasant to those who come from neighboring villages. It is the friendly spirit of co-operation and Christian love that keeps the world going. Why not make it a community spirit? Someone has said: "There isn't much to be seen in a little town, but what you hear makes up for it." That is very true, but not in the way that was intended. Sometimes what you hear in the way of gossip may tickle the ears of the evil-minded and stretch the imagination of those who seem to take delight in spreading false reports, but it is not helpful to the well being of your town."

MICROPHONIC TUBES

Often we have heard the question asked - What causes a ringing sound in my radio when anyone walks across the floor or when the set is jarred? Usually this condition is caused by one or more microphonic tubes in the set. Some radio tubes are very sensitive to vibration of any kind, and when jarred will cause a ringing sound in the speaker. This type of tube is termed microphonic because it reproduces sound vibrations much in the same way as a microphone does.

Usually microphonic tubes cause the greatest trouble in the detector and first audio stages in the older type sets, although in a modern superheterodyne they may prove troublesome in any socket. Especially in a radio where the chassis is not mounted on rubber will these tubes give trouble.

Sometimes this trouble may be overcome by ballasting the troublesome tube. To do this, use rubber tape, simply wrapping the body of the tube where its diameter is greatest with several thicknesses. A little experimenting will show you just the right place and the correct amount of tape.

Rubber bands cut from a discarded inner tube will also answer the purpose. Cut two or three bands about one half inch wide and twist them tightly around the tube.

If the above suggestions will not remedy the trouble, a new tube offers about the only satisfactory solution to the problem.

ROGATION SUNDAY

This is the Spring counterpart of the Harvest Festival in the Fall. Over in England they have a most interesting ceremony called "Beating the Bounds" of the parish at this season but in Canada we have no parish bounds so we have no such ceremony.

But the real import of this season has a special meaning for us in Western Canada this year. Our churches are thronged with worshippers for the Harvest Festival but our prayers are not so fervent at this Rogationtide season when we pray for God's blessing on the seed sown.

Of course we all realise that it makes a great difference in the west whether our crop is a good one or not. This year four varieties of wheat which resist the deadly rust are being sown on 2900 acres. If this effort is successful, it will mean many extra dollars to our western farmers.

So let us put our hearts into the askings for the blessings on the seed sown. Let us pray that God will bless those marvellous seeds all over the world and especially the rustless ones in Western Canada.

Cook over hot water until thick, then set away to cool. When thoroughly chilled add this sauce to the first mixture to moisten, and use as a filling for either white or whole wheat bread. A crisp lettuce leaf will add a succulent touch.

Intensive Competition Between Weeds and Other Plants Always In Evidence

Plant competition is a natural phenomenon in which plants of the same or unrelated species growing in close proximity develop at the expense of their weaker rivals. This competition is of general occurrence in the plant kingdom both among native species under natural conditions and between crops and weeds in cultivated fields. In a recent issue of "Scientific Agriculture," T. K. Pavlychenko and J. B. Harrington of Saskatchewan University of Saskatoon give some interesting information on the subject, together with results of experiments carried out at the Weed Nursery of the University's experimental farm.

Observations over a period of several years indicate that competition between overlapping root systems takes place long before the tops of the plants begin to shade one another. In short, competition commences under the soil surface where the root systems overlap in their search for water and food, and manifests itself immediately in the retarded development of the top growth, becoming intensified by the top growth competition for light, only after shading of one plant by another has taken place.

Moisture, the predominant limiting factor in plant growth on the open plains of Western Canada, is the most important consideration in weeds versus crop competition in that area. In one of the experiments it was found that the yield of Marquis wheat was 40 per cent lower in plots infested with wild mustard than in plots free from weeds. Plots of barley, wheat, and wild oats, grown alone in areas ten feet square, attained approximately ten times as large a growth of top and root system as plants grown in ordinary six-foot drill rows. Plants of hays, ear mustard, common wild mustard, and Russian thistle, when grown alone, produced from 100 to 1,000 times the growth they had when grown in ordinary six-inch drill rows.

In a weed-versus-cereal competition study, Hanneken barley competed much more successfully with wild oats and wild mustard than did Marquis wheat. This is due to the fact that Hanneken barley, five days after emergence usually has a larger number of seminal roots, and 22 days after emergence it develops also more crown roots than Marquis wheat. Marquis wheat in the same study competed fairly successfully with wild mustard, having a total root system 30 per cent longer than the mustard, but was badly depressed by wild oats, the latter having more than four times as large a total root length.

Where Thanks Are Due

Aboriginal Americans Developed Some Things Now In Use

The Irish potato is not Irish. It is not even a potato.

Sea Island and Egyptian cotton, the two best varieties were developed neither on sea islands nor in Egypt.

Down to the time of our grandmothers, the tomato, or "love-apple," was shunned as poisonous. Only the South American Indians knew what good food it was.

For these three and many other agricultural products, modern man must thank the aboriginal American, probably the first, certainly the best, primitive farmer in the world, though until recently he got little credit for it.

Knew His Own Home

Donkey Proved To Court Who Was His Master

The intelligence of a donkey at Cairo saved its master from prison. Discovering that his animal had been stolen the man informed the police.

Later he saw his donkey staggering along the road under a heavy weight. Seizing the man leading it, he took him to the police station and related his story. There he was informed that he must prove ownership.

The peasant replied that he was willing to go to prison if the donkey was not able of its own accord to find its way back to his stable.

The donkey was set free on a bridge and walked straight home.

The train was running through a tunnel. "Wonderful things these tunnels," remarked a passenger.

"I never see much in them," replied the other man.

May Celebrate Twice

Detroit Likely To Honor Both Ericson And Columbus

To conciliate the long-standing dispute as to whether Christopher Columbus or Leif Ericson was the real discoverer of America, Detroit may celebrate two anniversaries of the discovery of America within a single week this year.

If a petition presented to Mayor Frank Couzens and the council by the Norse Civic Association is approved, Detroit will celebrate, next Oct. 9, the anniversary of the discovery of America by Ericson on Oct. 9, 1492, by Christopher Columbus.

Columbus Day is a well established tradition, but Leif Ericson Day would be a new one.

Leif Ericson, the son of Eric the Red, sailed westward from Iceland with 35 men in the year 1000 A.D., and after stopping at Newfoundland proceeded to what is now the state of Massachusetts, where he remained for two years, the association's petition says. "From recent discoveries of Viking sailing vessels in Massachusetts, Runic inscriptions in Minnesota and searches of reports and maps in the Vatican galleries, there is no longer a doubt in the minds of learning professors that Leif Ericson was the discoverer of America."

Crime In United States

Records List 1,445,581 Major Crimes In 1935

Predicting violent death at the hands of murderers for 300,000 Americans, Howard Kahn, editor of the St. Paul Daily News, which initiated the police housecleaning there, said there are 150,000 murderers actually roaming freely over the country to-day.

Kahn, speaking before a luncheon group, lauded the work of federal agents in suppressing kidnapping, but pointed to the potential danger from other crime sources.

Records listed 1,445,581 major crimes in 1935, Kahn said, of which 12,000 were murders. These crimes and racketeers cost each individual in the country an average of $120 yearly.

Public apathy leads Kahn's list of sore spots which encouraged this crime toll. Law enforcement is further hampered by mauling juries, low-salaried policemen, civil service abuses, improper handling of paroles, and crime-affiliated politicians, he charged.

Mystery Mountain

Mount Waddington Has Frustrated All Attempts To Scale Its Heights

While a British expedition prepared another assault upon Mount Everest, Pacific Coast mountaineers turned their eyes to "unscalable" Mount Waddington.

Once known as "Mystery Mountain," Waddington towers highest in the Coast Range, 13,260 feet, with a sheer peak which has turned back 13 attempts to climb it and has taken one life.

William F. Dobson, president of the British Columbia Mountaineering Club, will head a 12-man party in early June. The personnel, not yet fixed, will be chosen from the finest mountaineers in Vancouver and probably will include two Sierra club climbers from San Francisco who will supplement the ice and snow technique of the Vancouver men with a highly developed knowledge of rockwork and use of pitons.

Money Is Picked Off Trees

They were picking $5 bills off of willow trees and cornstalks along the French Road river near Danbridge, Tenn. The money apparently was deposited by recent high water. Business was nearly at a standstill as folks went out to hunt money. There was one unsubstantiated theory that the money might be part of $60,000 missing from a Charlotte, N.C., mail robbery.

Due For Surprise

A number of bantam hens in Winnipeg will have strange chicken soon, if all goes well. In an effort to introduce the Indian chukar partridge into Manitoba, Hon. J. S. McDermid, provincial minister of natural resources, placed 100 chukar eggs under his hens to be hatched. 2151

LONDON'S POPULAR SOCIETY WEDDING

Dense crowds gathered outside St. Paul's Cathedral, London, when Miss Ruth Primrose, granddaughter of the Earl of Derby, and of the late Earl of Rosebery, married the Hon. Charles Wood, eldest son of Lord Halifax, the Lord Privy Seal. Our picture shows the bride and groom leaving the Cathedral after the ceremony, as the Royal Horse Guards formed a guard of honour.

The Peak Of Endurance

People In Early Middle Age Able To Stand Most

The Lancet, famous British professional medical journal, based an article on the "peak of human endurance" largely on the experiences of the three Toronto men mentioned recently by a fall of rock in a Moose River, N.S., gold mine.

"The rescue shows," says The Lancet, "what men in extremity can endure and to what extent the sparks of life can flicker eventually to kindle once more to steady flame." The Lancet expresses the opinion peak endurance is probably reached at what is known as "early middle age." "Too old at 40" is probably only applicable to enterprises where carelessness is not a liability and where speed is essential.

A Sound Argument

The Canadian Federation of the Blind submits the following sound argument: "Justification for granting pensions to the blind is much greater than that of the aged. In the majority of cases a sighted aged person had at some time during his life the opportunity of providing for old age. The blind have never had this opportunity."

Grand Manan, an island off New Brunswick, produces more smoked herring than any other area in Canada.

Plaint From The West

R.C. Paper Refers To Position Of The Western Provinces

"The epithet 'pauper provinces,' applied by Parliament Hill to those provinces that have been seeking financial relief from Ottawa, explains in its own implied derision just why in the eyes of eastern magnates, those provinces are 'paupers.'"

How could they be anything else, even when they are endowed with the riches and variety of products of British Columbia?

We did British Columbia have just settled down to be a sort of branch office of the east.

Every yard of silk we buy, for instance, is made in an eastern factory. The housewife in Vancouver pays from 50 cents to $5 a yard for that silk. If she were allowed to bring it in from Japan, where we have to sell our own goods in world competition, the price would be half of that.

The same principle applies to motor cars and to all major products that take high freight rates from eastern factories. British Columbians have no objections to buying those eastern goods and paying those high prices for them if there are compensating economic factors.

But the cards are all against us. —Vancouver Sun.

In Munich, Germany, it is against the law to read a book written by Theodore Dreiser.

Census Of Agriculture Is For The Benefit Of The Farming Industry

Has Valuable Fisheries

Industry In Canada Adds Millions To Our Resources

Among the sixty and more different kinds of food fish and shell-fish produced from Canada's fisheries there are a round dozen which, in normal times, add more than a million dollars each to the Dominion's annual production. Some of these add several millions, and British Columbia's salmon more than a dozen millions.

The million dollar fish listed in order of marketed value of 1934 catches are salmon, lobsters, cod, herring, whitefish, halibut, haddock, sardines, pickerel or dore, trout, smelts and pilchards. The first four—salmon, lobsters, cod and herring—have held that position for a number of years past, and each of these is much more than a million-dollar species. In 1934 the cod landings had a total marketed value of more than $3,300,000 and the herring catch was worth $1,800,000, while in years when trade conditions were normal the values have been much larger. The lobster marketed value sometimes runs to substantially more than $5,000,000, although it did not reach that figure in 1934. The salmon tops all others, and in 1934 the aggregate commercial catch amounted to 189,700,000 pounds with a marketed value of nearly $12,900,000, the larger part of which being credited to British Columbia. In the five-year period 1929-30, the marketed value of the Dominion's salmon catch averaged more than $17,000,000.

Keeping Brain Active

Like Other Organs It Must Have Proper Exercise

Persons who live sensibly and carefully in the first 30 years of their lifetime need have little to fear of mental diseases in later years, Dr. Bernard Sachs, former president of the New York Academy of Medicine, said. By "sensible living," Dr. Sachs said, he meant an avoidance of "the ravaging influences of alcohol, drug addiction and blood diseases."

The brain is not unlike other organs of the body. It is subject to deterioration with age as other organs are; but if it has not been abused, it stands as good a chance as any other organ to continue to function satisfactorily, and make other organs, to keep it functioning in a reasonable way is the best way to keep it going. So far as the brain is concerned, variety is indeed the spice of life. Keep the mind going but vary its occupation—change is essential.

Dr. Sachs' recipe for a healthy mind follows: "Do not become a humdrum thinker; develop 'outside interests.' 'Take a holiday before you need it.'"

"Don't develop the notion that life's work has been done, that old age is coming on, and that it is best to sit down quietly and wait for the end. That sort of philosophy works out very badly and accounts for a very large number of hypochondriacs of later life."

Microbes Of Antarctica

American Bacteriologists Study Many Germs From Far South

Microbes that were brought from the icy reaches of Little America are being studied in laboratories of Allegheny College in Meadville, Pa.

Also preserved in the laboratories at the college are snow crystals, soil mooses and other minute debris. Of the 190 different cultures already isolated, several are hitherto undescribed, according to Dr. Chester A. Darling, honorary bacteriologist of the Byrd expedition.

Feels Of Fasting

A few weeks ago everybody was asking the question, how long could the entombed men at Moose River live without sustenance? The following interesting item from the "25 years ago" column of The Ottawa Journal, may provide the answer in part: "A Toronto undertaker on a 13-day fast for the good of his health. He was coming along splendidly up to the 16th day, when he died."

An automobile will travel 48 per cent farther at a speed of 50 miles an hour on a gallon of gasoline with clean spark plugs than with soiled or worn ones.

The Census of Agriculture, which is to be taken on the first day of June, is primarily for the benefit of the farming industry and if taken accurately will be of great value in the study of agricultural conditions. It is extremely important therefore, says the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, that a complete and accurate record of agricultural operations be taken.

The report when published will be a mine of information for all those interested in the problems of the farmers of the Prairie Provinces. It is of the utmost importance that the figures contributed by each farmer shall be complete and accurate so that the best possible inventory of the leading industry will be effected. The Census of Agriculture aims at securing accurate statistics relative to farm lands, buildings, live stock, mortgaged debt, etc., as at June 1; statistics for 1935 concerning crops, live stock products, farm expenses and products sold; statistics of incidental agricultural production, live stock, animal products, etc., on plots of less than one acre, and statistics of vacant and abandoned farms.

There is an implicit guarantee that no information given will be used otherwise than in preparing the census figures. The individual answering the questions is completely protected. All officials connected with the census are bound by an oath of secrecy and there is therefore no reason whatever why every farmer should not co-operate by supplying the census enumerators with complete and accurate information. Thoroughly effective remedial policies can only be created when facts are made available.

A farm, for census purposes, is all the land farmed by one person with or without help. It must be of one acre or more and must have produced agricultural products to the value of $50 in 1935. A man who owns a certain amount of land might rent part of it. This will be entered on the census records as two farms, the land farmed by each man being considered as a unit. On the other hand, a man renting various tracts of land from different owners will be regarded as operating one farm only, the various pieces of land constituting one unit. If however the tracts are in different enumeration areas or if a manager is hired to supervise a certain portion of the land, that portion will go down as a separate farm.

The farm population on June 1 will be ascertained together with the number of persons who have permanently left the farm as well as those who have come to live permanently on farms.

The information requested on the general farm schedule covers the operator, population of the farm on June 1, persons employed to do the farm work in 1935, condition of farm buildings, machinery, tools and equipment and the amounts of mortgaged debt and liens, and the rate of interest paid, farm expenses in 1935, farm facilities in 1936, forest products produced in 1935, co-operative marketing, the value of the farm in 1934, acreage and production in 1935, with information relating to crop failure, live stock on June 1, animal products raised in 1935 and whether they were consumed on the farm or sold, pure bred animals on farms, and the value of products sold off the farms in 1935.

New Use For Farm Crops

Henry Ford Says Automobile Parts Will Be Grown From Soil

A day in the not far distant future when "we may grow most of an automobile on the farm" was envisioned by Henry Ford.

In a brief interview after a luncheon that opened the second Dearborn conference on agriculture, industry and science, Ford said the possibilities of plastics which can be made from farm products for use in industry are "the greatest in the world."

Just as fibre gears have been found superior to metal gears in some moving parts, other plastics offer the possibility of substitution for steel in the manufacture of automobiles, he said, the turning industry to the farm, instead of metal mines for its raw material.

Ford criticized crop-restriction programs as "unnatural."

Going To Antarctic

Former Pilot On Byrd Expeditions Is Planning Trip

Harold I. June, formerly of Bristol, chief pilot on two Byrd Antarctic expeditions, and Lincoln Ellsworth, flyer-explorer, are planning a joint expedition to the South Pole to discover what is thought to be the last remaining continent in the world, 600,000 square miles never seen by man.

Announcement of the new expedition, which may not leave for two or three years, or until new ice exploration equipment is perfected, was made at Providence, R.I., by June.

"The new continent is an area about one-third the size of Australia and is on a straight line through the South Pole from Little America, on the other side of the world," June said. "No man has ever seen this territory, but we believe it offers the last bit of uncharted land on the globe."

Carbon Monoxide Poisoning

Doctor Explains How Gas From Automobile Constitutes Danger

The traffic cop at a busy intersection who irritably blows his whistle and frantically hands out tickets for minor infractions may be suffering from inhaling too much carbon monoxide, one of the elements in the automobile exhaust.

Or if a man suddenly starts quarrelling with his family, worrying about his job, and even threatening suicide—all for no apparent reason—he may have too much of the gas in his blood.

Small amounts of carbon monoxide inhaled over long periods cause chronic poisoning and result in physical as well as mental ailments. Dr. Harvey G. Beck, of Baltimore, explained.

Dr. Beck was one of more than 7,000 delegates at Kansas City who attended the American Medical Association's 78th annual convention. City dwellers can't step outdoors at the average busy street intersections to escape the gas and get fresh air, Dr. Beck said.

"It has been demonstrated that traffic patrolmen after eight hour exposure will reach a danger point in their blood saturation," he explained.

Only one per cent. of carbon monoxide in the atmosphere causes acute poisoning and usually results in instantaneous death. Chronic poisoning causes anxiety, depressions, fears, introspection, and emotional upheavals, Dr. Beck said.

The mental alertness of the driver of an automobile is dimmed through inhaling small quantities of the gas, he said, contributing to the causes for many accidents.

New York's Latest Craze

Train Carries People To Country For Bicycle Riding

Those who pictured New Yorkers as incapable of being torn away from their cars and night clubs revised their opinion last winter when ski trains hauled 12,000 on a single week-end to the snow slopes of the Adirondacks.

The illusion is again shattered by the inauguration of a "bicycle train" service. On a recent Sunday the first bicycle train of the season carried 222 cycling enthusiasts to a rural district of Massachusetts, waited while they "wheeled" merrily over a 20-mile course among the violet and cowslip-sprinkled valleys and then whirled them back to the city in time for a good night's recuperation before the toils of Monday.

It was reported as a day rich in the enjoyment of nature and exercise. A seasoned, solitary outdoor student might find fault with the arrangement, since a cyclist accompanied by 221 others, noisily chattering, is not exactly alone with Nature, but 221 are considerably less than 7,000,000, and doubtless to a New Yorker a country area containing as few people as that is practically a vacuum.

As for exercises, the excursion left nothing to be desired. Any one of the fashions who rides a bicycle 26 miles knows he has been some place. Poundage was noticeably reduced—the purpose for which some went—muscles were toned up, and many a fine Charlie horse acquired to serve as a reminder of the outing during the week to follow.

More joy to the New York cities.—Detroit News.

Displayed Rare Tact

After-Dinner Speaker Corrected Error In Clever Way

Waterloo Bridge, masterpiece of London's great eighteenth-century engineer, John Rennie, spanning the river Thames close to Parliament Buildings and now being rebuilt, offers a new example of professional tact.

An architect—with London's greatest exponent of his own particular craft, Sir Christopher Wren, in his thoughts—in an after-dinner speech accidentally included Waterloo Bridge among buildings for which this famous builder of fine structures was responsible.

An engineer guest was called upon to reply. If he corrected the slip his architect host might feel humiliated. If he allowed it to pass he might seem to belittle the achievements of one of the greatest lights in his own profession. Humbly, therefore, he said: "The last speaker has rightly exalted Wren; so endeared is he to us engineers that we affectionately style him 'Wrennie'!"—Christian Science Monitor.

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about "ASPIRIN."

He will tell you that before the discovery of "Aspirin" most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and the kidneys. What was his food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate "Aspirin" among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this:

BUILDING FOR THE FUTURE

Golden text: In your patience ye shall win your souls. Luke 21:19 Lesson: Luke 20:1-31, 38. Devotional reading: I. Timothy 6: 11-19.

Explanations And Comments

A Prophecy of the Fall of Jerusalem and of the Second Advent, Luke 21:35-38. Some of the people present began to talk about the wonderful stones and fine offerings that adorned the temple. Matthew says that it was one of the disciples who drew Jesus' attention to the glories of the temple. The stones in the foundation were enormous, and there were columns fifty feet in height of one block of marble. "The gifts to the temple were many and costly, from the great ones of the earth; a table from Ptolemy, a chair from Agrippa, a golden vine from Herod the Great. The temple was famous for its wealth."

The days will come, Jesus prophesied, in which there shall not be left one stone of the temple upon another, that shall not be thrown down. This prediction was literally fulfilled forty years later. Josephus, writing about the destruction of Jerusalem says: "Cesar now gave orders to demolish the whole city and temple, except the highest towers and the west wall. At the rest was so thoroughly laid even with the ground by those that dug it up to the foundation, that there was left nothing to make those who came thither believe that it had ever been inhabited." "On the ninth day of Ab, the Talmud says, 'the city of Jerusalem was ploughed up.'"

Can you understand the meaning of our Scripture selections for today's study are taken from what has been called the eschatological discourse. Our first selection seems to have specific reference to the destruction of Jerusalem only, and the latter portion of the chapter seems to mingle that event with some other in a way that is rather difficult to follow. But the advice and admonition in this first section is plain enough. In the midst of rumors of catastrophes and great disturbances in the thoughts of men, Jesus advises his followers to be steady and trustful and not let themselves be led astray or unduly frightened. Wholesome, helpful, rather matter-of-fact advice, well suited well to the occasion. Jesus is not advising, let it be understood, his followers to be indifferent in these great and tragic events which he sees coming, but he insists that even in times of such trouble they should not get panicky, but possess their souls in trust and patience and live lives of faithfulness and service. Those to whom the things of the spirit are the great things should be able to do this.

YOUR GARDEN

First flowers to be sown are those very hardy kinds which naturally reproduce themselves in Canada, such as Cosmos, California Poppy, Alyssum, Calendula and Candytuft. In the second group are the Zinnia, Marigold, Nasturtium, Stocks, Aster and Petunia, which do not stand serious frost, and of the tender things which must be held back until all danger of freezing is over, are the Dahlia, Camassia and Gladiolus. As the latter are all bulbs and do not come up until a week or so after planting, they may be risked within a few days of the arrival of really warm weather. One is well advised to save a little seed of each variety from all plantings in order to fill in inevitable "misses" caused by drought, washings or other things beyond control. In the perennial flower bed there will also be gaps where winter-killing has occurred. These may be filled in with quick growing annuals.

Seed should not be sown too deep and plants should not be allowed to grow too close together. Very fine seed like that of the poppy and alyssum, for instance, is best mixed with a little sand and the mixture sown, otherwise the seed will not go very far and will be put in much too close together. With such small seed merely pressing into finely prepared soil will be sufficient. The general rule is to sow to a depth of three times the diameter of the seed. In the case of the Dahlia, Camassia and Gladiolus, which are large and should be covered about an inch deep. Bulbs or corns, like the Dahlia, and Gladiolus may be put down well into the soil and raked lightly over, but only an inch or so below an inch and beans and peas about an inch. Thinning of both flowers and vegetables is most important after the plants are up an inch or so. With flowers a good rule is to have half as much space between as the plants will be high. This will be about twice the height of ordinary Marigold, Petunias and Asters, two to three feet between Cosmos and Dahlias, but only an inch or so separating tiny Alyssum, Lobelia and other edging plants. Well spaced flowers will be more sturdy and thus resist heavy wind and rain. Even the smallest vegetables such as lettuce and radish must be thinned out. An inch or so will be sufficient, and that is also all the room that is needed for carrots and beets, because when these things have developed roots an inch thick two or three long enough to plant should be removed and used, and this proceeding followed until the whole row is used up.

ers supported this with similar statements, and the remainder of the group, a dozen strong, looked bereft.

Fleming glanced toward the scene of the accident—if it could possibly be an accident, which he strongly doubted. "I see," he said slowly. "You're all yellow. Scared to work here, just because a couple of men got hurt by something that couldn't be foreseen."

"Boys, I told McLendon to take every precaution for safety. Buster Townsend got the same instructions. Hey, Mac, isn't that so?" He saw the engineer coming toward him after personally seeing that Oriss and Jimmie Dooley were started toward the Star Loop.

McLendon nodded. "I think I've done everything a man could," he said briefly, and hurried a withering look at the quitters.

"Well, they're yellow, Mac. They want their dolls. They're going home."

"But, that ain't it, Fleming. We ain't scared. But—"

"But what, Ferguson? If you have anything to say, say it!"

The self-appointed leader shifted uneasily, hoping some of his fellows would speak up. But none did. "I say, mainly. And we been working long enough. We're quittin'. We want our money."

Fleming regarded him quizzically. "You want your wages to take home now, is that it? You're not out to earn all you can for that wife of yours, eh? Satisfied to earn a little while she takes in washing. She's worth four of you, Ferguson, and I say it was unlucky she ever met you. You're lazy, no account, don't deserve an honest, pretty woman like you got. You never gave her a square deal yet, and if Mac hadn't stopped all liquor out here you'd be drunk same as you are at Rawhide now, is that it?"

He spat disgustedly. "Your type is a quitter anyhow. You're no good to anybody, especially your wife and yourself. All right, you don't quit here. You're fired!"

charges Link made were true, as every man listening knew full well. Yet he would not have uttered them had not his anger been aroused had he not needed a bold stroke. He knew at a glance that Ferguson was the chief trouble-maker here, and perhaps was responsible for this sudden strike. Link advanced on the man. "Get out before I knock you down!"

The fellow retreated to safety. "I want my wages!" he whined.

Fleming plunged a hand into his trousers pocket and drew out several bills. "How much, Mac?"

"Twelve dollars an' forty cents," supplied Ferguson.

"All right. Never mind knock it up. Here," Fleming tossed over the change. "I'm glad to get rid of you so cheap. Now clear off this property before I knock you off!" he snapped.

But now he had received his money, Ferguson seemed reluctant to leave. He halted a safe distance and turned. "Say, Mr. Fleming—"

"Get out! And don't come back! Now, boys, what's the trouble? Worried I'm not going to pay up? Or are you a gang of good-for-nothings like Ferguson, so when you have a few dollars coming you want to scot to town and guzzle it down in whiskey?"

Stated this way, they were uncertain. "Wal," said a red-nosed man, staring down at his broken and dirt-rinned finger nails, "I don't mind workin' another day or two for yuh, Link. That is, if I'm gonna get cash when it's over."

"Saw what I gave Ferguson?"

"Yeah."

"There'll be more where that came from. I've kept my steers free just to take care of you hombes, and I'm sellin' 'em tomorrow. That means cash least before sunset. Ought to satisfy the crowd of you."

"But say," objected a grizzled individual who wore the habiliments of a miner, "we need twice as many guys workin' here!"

There was some truth in this, Fleming frowned and fingered his chin, glancing at McLendon. He could not think where it might be possible to get more men with the whole of Boone County hostile to his project. "Boys, we're nearly to the end of this job. I'll pay double for overtime, so there's a good chance for you to make some real money!"

"And cash when?" persisted an other individual. "Double time's no good until we get it!"

"You'll get it. Cash up to date tomorrow. I don't mean the next day nor next week. Tomorrow! That's definite I reckon? Now," he demanded, eyeing the crowd before him, "how about it? Who's quittin' and who's workin'?"

"I'm quittin'."

"Me too." Two men stepped forward. "I've had enough o' yore damned quarry, Fleming," one declared with unexpected spirit. "But mainly I don't expect yuh'll ever pay a cent. Once this dam's goin' yuh'll forget every man jack of us."

No hint of inner troubledness showed as he looked at the remaining crowd of workers who with Buster, McLendon, and a man driving the injured pair to the Star Loop, comprised the staff. "Anybody else?"

For answer three shuffled away and picked up their tools. After some indecision and considerable growling, the men fell silent. Nearly 24 men were again on the job.

Link took McLendon aside. "I sure appreciate you doin' your best, Mac. And the fact that Helen and I owe you two month's pay and never heard a word about it since the day you came."

The other stirred uneasily. I know you're a square shouter, Fleming," he paused. "Somebody around here spreads dissatisfaction among the men. They keep growling and complaining. This work is no harder than any other, but they keep worrying that you won't and the money to pay them."

Link looked troubled. "How about Buster, Townsend?"

"Townsend? What do you mean? He tries to make them work."

"Ever see him wearing leather cuffs with rivets formed like a fleur-de-lis?"

McLendon blinked. "Yes," he said slowly. "I think I have. I'm sure of it. Why?"

"Thanks, Mac. I'll have a talk with Buster." Turning away, Link found his ranch foreman squinting at blueprints. No one was within earshot.

"Where's that pair of cuffs you spoke to wear?" he inquired casually, glancing at the brawny arms with sleeves rolled up.

"Huh? Oh, them? Darned if I know. Yes," Townsend added quickly, "I guess one of 'em's in the shack up above. I lost the other a couple days ago. Why?"

For answer his employer whipped out his forty-five. His muzzle pressed hard against the foreman's stomach. "You held up Helen Hamilton yesterday, just outside Rawhide," he charged angrily. "Where's the money? Buster, I never thought you'd doublecross me!"

Astonishment flooded the other's leathery countenance and he glanced down at the threatening sixgun. But there was no trace of fear showing, only hurt plainly evident.

"You're wrong, Link," he declared. "I pulled no holdup yesterday or any other time. I've worked for yuh faithful as any man could. Yes, and last Fall I got shot for yuh, too."

There was a moment of tense silence. "Mac!" called Fleming over his shoulder. The engineer approached, his eyes wide in wonder at the gun covering Townsend. "Was Buster working here yesterday morning, or was he gone for awhile?"

The man hesitated while he searched the faces of the pair standing tense before him. "Why, sure was here! Buster and I were wrangling over some blueprints. In fact, he proved that I'd miscalculated five-eighths of an inch. You see, on those supports for the—"

"Humm. All right." Abruptly he holstered his gun. He waited for the engineer to leave, a wondering expression on his sober face. Then Fleming extended his hand. "I'm sorry, Buster. Helen's in a bad way about this thing. But how did your cuffs get on the holdup? Helen

An Unusual Accident

Boy Killed When Taut Rope Flung Him 150 Feet

Catapulted over the roofs of a row of houses when caught in a tree-feller's guide rope at Carleton Place, England, 11-year-old Stanley Parish was hurtled a distance of 150 yards and almost instantly killed when his descending body crashed through a garden fence.

With 200 other children he had been watching the feller. The tree had been sawn nearly through, and the men were pulling it with a rope.

With a loud crack, it crashed to the ground, and at the same instant a guide-rope which had been used to prevent the tree falling on a house became taut.

A second later something went hurtling through the air and over the roofs of the houses.

At first it was thought it was part of the tree. Then the on-lookers realized it was the boy as they saw the wind catch his overcoat and flutter it out.

Felix Willard, who had been watching nearby, said: "The lad soared through the air like a rocket. He was at least 40 feet high, and appeared just to miss a branch of another tree and to clear the chimney-pots."

Fishing Pact Agreement

Canadian And American Interests Get Together On Treaty

Canadian and American fishing interests have reached an agreement on ratification of the 1939 sockeye salmon treaty which Canada ratified, but which failed to pass the United States Senate.

The agreement was effected through compromises which provided for creation of an advisory committee in the treaty and delegation of wide regulatory powers to the commission. The committee would be composed of 10 members, five from each country.

The conference voted that if amendments proposed to the treaty should prove unacceptable to the governments, then it would favor acceptance of another treaty.

Little Helps For This Week

Therefore I take pleasure in intimacies, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in distress for Christ's sake, for when I am weak then I am strong. 2 Cor. 12:10.

What'er God does is well; in patience let us wait; He doth Himself our burdens bear.

He doth for us take care, And He, our God, knows all our weary days.

Nothing, but seeing God in everything, will make us loving and patient with those who annoy and trouble us. They will be to us then only the instruments for accomplishing His tender and wise purpose towards us, and we shall even then find ourselves at last inwardly thanking them for the blessings they bring us. Nothing else will completely put an end to all murmuring and rebellious thoughts.

PRAIRIE PROVINCES FIVE-YEAR CENSUS, JUNE 1st, 1936

THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT INVITES THE WILLING CO-OPERATION OF EVERY CITIZEN

COMMENCING June 1st, the usual five-year census of the three Prairie Provinces will be undertaken. The object of this census is to gather statistics by means of which your Government can function more intelligently, more effectively and more economically in the interests of all citizens of the country.

No Government ever yet succeeded or gave its best without a thorough knowledge of its country and its people. That is why we ask your utmost co-operation in the census of the Prairie Provinces which commences on June 1st this year. When the Government Enumerator calls at your door, receive him courteously. Give him all the information for which he asks. Remember, he is the agent of good administration and is in your service. Help him to complete his work with all possible despatch. On the accuracy and completeness of your replies to his questions depends the best interest of yourself and your Government.

ALL INFORMATION IS HELD STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL. You can place absolute trust in the official enumerator who calls on you. All information you provide will be held in the strictest confidence. It is compulsory by law to answer the questions put by the enumerator. But you are living up to the spirit of good citizenship as well as to the letter of the law by giving information readily, completely and sincerely.

Midget Ball

The Midgets played an exhibition game against the Carstairs Lads, but the game was one sided, the final score reading, Crossfield 22, Carstairs 5. After a little more practice and as the season advances these teams will be able to give one another a much better battle.

Midgets, the Council point out that trees in the park are receiving damage, and while we are of the opinion that our boys are not to blame, it's up to you members to see that the culprits are warned as to this practice. Unless it is stopped the League will be the sufferers, and refused the further use of the park for Ball games. Do your bit Boys.

Board of Trade

Calling all members. Your attention is directed to the article on the front page. Keep this date clear and show our visitors that Crossfield has a real Board Of Trade.

School Fair Jottings

By "Seedling"

This week we have a complaint to register and think you will agree we are justified in doing so.

As most of you know the School-fair buildings on the Fair grounds was given to the Association by the Municipal Council and it took lots of work to fix it up to its present stage of usefulness. We can say that there is not another school fair that has a building of that size to call its own anywhere in the Province, and we have a reason to be proud of it.

How is it that every young mischief-maker has to go up to these Buildings and see how much he can do towards wrecking the place. We hope that between now and the time that it will require to be fixed up for this year's fair, some of the parents will stroll that way some evening and see for themselves the damage that is there.

We tried locking it up and the door was almost broken off, so now it is left open so that there will at least be doors there when needed. To say that it is a shame would be putting it mildly indeed, but we do say that if over anyone is caught doing any damage it will be just too bad for the culprit, because so much damage has been done at one time or another that we shall be compelled to prosecute the first one caught in the act.
